Here and There in Bucks County Towns

The 50th anniversary of Langhorne Presbyterian Church was observed with special services, Sunday.

On Sunday at 10:30 a. m., there was a special anniversary message by Rev. John H. Gross, D. D., of Philadelphia.

Sunday evening there was a message by the pastor on "Things That Make a Strong Church." The choir rendered special music at both services.

Tuesday evening will be fellowship night under the auspices of young people.

Letters will be read from former pastors. The history of the church will be read by the pastor.

There will be other interesting exercises and a period of sociability.

R. Chapman Carver, supervising principal of the Buckingham schools, and Assistant County Superintendent Charles H. Boehm, Morrisville, will be the speakers on the occasion of the promotion exercises for the eighth grade pupils of the Solebury township schools.

The exercises will be held in the new consolidated school building at Solebury on Tuesday evening, June 7, at eight o'clock, d. s. t., when five girls and four boys will receive their certificates.

Members of the Quakertown School Board found it necessary to increase the school tax rate from 16 to 19 mills. The per capita tax was fixed at $5. In addition to determining the tax rate, the board adopted a budget, which calls for the expenditure of $126,535.35.

Buckingham's buoyant Buckaneers staged a fine athletic banquet at the Buckingham High School when trophies were presented to the school for winning championships in three different sports, hockey, soccer and baseball, in Lower Bucks County League competition.

"Athletes must pay a price for anything they do, whether it is to gain fame or not," declared Ben Ogden, track coach at Temple University, in a talk as one of the guest speakers at the banquet. "It is absolutely necessary to train and give up certain things if you want to make good on any athletic team," the Temple coach said.

Thirty-one eighth grade pupils of the West Rockhill Consolidated School received their diplomas at the graduation exercises held on Tuesday evening, May 31, in the school auditorium.

GIFTS, PEOPLE, SERVICE
DWELT UPON IN SERMON

Rev. J. Carpenter Zook Delivers
Baccalaureate Sermon at Bristol High School

LARGE GROUP PRESENT

"He gave gifts unto men" was the text used by the Rev. J. Carpenter Zook, pastor of Bristol Methodist Church, as he delivered the baccalaureate sermon in Bristol high school auditorium, yesterday afternoon.

Relatives and friends of the graduates gathered for the service of worship, which also featured selections by the high school orchestra and musical numbers under direction of Charles Quigley, a member of the high school faculty.

The Rev. Zook, in his sermon, in which he stressed gifts, people, and service, told that God has given gifts unto all men—that is, everyone has some gift from God. He told that all have reason to be conscious of many things, and of many circumstances in this life. "Let us likewise seek to be conscious of Him who is the Source of all things."

In stressing service, the minister stated: "I do not care so much what the service shall be, not how much, but how. Therefore I emphasize service in God's field, be it shop, market place, office, school-room or the home."

Giving was also stressed, the graduates being told to "Be loyal to the Royal in yourself! Gifts, people, service—Giving is thus elevated, because virtues, principles and right living are not separated from our human endeavors. Your motives and mine are ever in the balance. Who gets most as he gives? Is it not he who gives his best? . . . Gifts are for people. The Bible says 'It is more blessed to give than to receive.' This applies only when we give so as to enrich the true value, and abiding worth of the individual."

After telling that "We are His people, His creation, His children, serving in His field, God's world," the speaker asked "How much of this gets into our daily life?"

The graduates were advised to "Give and serve your fellow man, remembering that you too received a gift. In a word—believe in God, trust Him more for what He is. Trust and serve people in this knowledge of Him, the Giver of every good and perfect gift. I have said nothing of preacher, prophet, priest, or rabbi—scarcely a word about teacher or parent—church

The commencement address was given by Asst. Supt. A. C. Rutter, and Supt. J. Harry Hoffman presented the diplomas.

The parade was the concluding feature of the Doylestown Centennial celebration which had been in progress for the past week.

One of the outstanding features of the parade was the number of women's auxiliaries in line and the fine appearance which they made. They added much in the way of color to the pageant.

The firemen also exhibited some of Bucks County's oldest fire fighting equipment and this shown beside some of the very latest and most modern of fire apparatus, really gave a striking exhibition of progress in fire fighting apparatus.

The firemen were led by James E. Groome, Yardley, who for the 22nd year was elected president at a meeting of the association held Friday evening. As aides there were first vice-president, Thomas B. Stockham, Morristown, and a member of the Pennsylvania Assembly; and William L. Stackhouse, Doylestown, who for many years was fire marshal of Bucks County, but who is now sheriff of the County.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

Illuminating Candor

Washington, June 4. ON Thursday, while the Senate was considering the amendment providing for the instant dismissal of any official connected with the administration of relief funds who used either his position or money to influence or interfere with election results, Senator Chavez, of New Mexico, in a burst of frankness, declared, "Adopt this amendment and you will defeat such Senators as Senator Barkley."

AT ONCE Senator Guffey, of Pennsylvania, whose relief is fairly rotten with politics, rushed over and shook his hand. The amendment was later defeated. A more open avowal could hardly be made. Here is an Administration, the head of which solemnly pledged Britton, enrolled in the College of Liberal Arts, was a member of the Alpha Theta Phi social fraternity and also an officer in that group. Taking as his major subject Economics, he served during his senior year as treasurer of the American University Student Association and controller of the student bank. He is also a member of Pi Gamma Mu, National Social Science honorary fraternity, and Omicron Delta Kappa, national extra-curricular fraternity.

In the field of athletics, Britton has been a mainstay of the varsity football squad for three successive years and was also a varsity man on the basketball squad during his freshman year. He rounded out his athletic career by taking an active part in track and intra-mural athletics. He also was a member of the student Athletic Committee, serving as representative of the senior class.

During his four years at the University, Britton also took part in many other extra-curricular activities. He was a staff member of the American University Eagle, the college publication; a member of the Student Christian Association; and active in the Spanish and Anglican Clubs.

The commencement exercises will be held at Continental Hall, at which time Llewellyn Cooke, rural electrification administration officer, will deliver the commencement address. The baccalaureate service was held yesterday at the Metropolitan Memorial Church. Dr. Joseph M. M. Gray, chancellor of the University, delivered the address.

himself when Government first entered the relief business to keep politics out, using its full weight to prevent adoption of an amendment to punish political activity upon the part of relief officials—an activity which has not only been charged but proven.

ON TOP OF THIS comes the statement from one Administration Senator, applauded by another Administration Senator, that should such prohibition be voted, the Administration Senate leader, endorsed by the President, and a candidate for renomination in Kentucky, cannot be successful. Senator Chavez went further. In effect, he told his colleagues they might as well be honest about it and admit that support of the voters on relief is essential to Administration candidates and that "many of us" would not be in the Senate at all but for that support. It is doubtful whether in the whole history of the Senate a more candid and degrading revelation has been made. In so many words, it was asserted that the election of Administration Senators depends

Scholastic and Shop Awards,
Each $50, Presented At St. Francis School

MANY AT EXERCISES

Commencement exercises attracted interest at three schools in this area over the week-end. An address was featured for each of the schools, St. Mark's parochial school; St. Thomas Parochial School, Croyston; and St. Francis Industrial School, Eddington.

Awards were made, with many relatives and friends gathering to witness presentation of such, and the bestowal of diplomas.

The scholastic prize of $50 awarded at St. Francis School was received by John J. Parker; and the shop award of $50 was bestowed upon William C. Brewster. The American Legion school ward, was given to John J. McNally. The speaker of the day was Vincent Carroll, Esq., assistant district attorney. At the commencement exercises the golden jubilee of the school was also observed.

At St. Francis commencement, yesterday, Brother Edwin, headmaster, introduced County Scout Executive William F. Livermore, Doylestown. Mr. Livermore remarked: "It has been a pleasure to have made Scouting available to the boys attending the St. Francis School. The finest co-operation has been given by Brother Edwin and the other brothers. Good Scouting is taking place under the leadership of Joseph Meehan, Scoutmaster of Troop No. 1, and Harry Behm of Troop No. 2. Assistant Scoutmaster Robert Peters is rendering a real service with Troop No. 2. Through the interest of the school, two fine meeting rooms are available. Scouting is happy to congratulate St. Francis School on its fiftieth birthday." The Scout Executive presented the second and first class emblems.

Merit badges were given to advancing Scouts by field commissioner of advancement Jesse Wendkos, Andalusia. "Merit badges are made available to Boy Scouts to aid them in discovering what they would like to do for their life's work. The awards require considerable study and energetic endeavor to complete all of the projects. I have been working close to the St. Francis boys as I have a keen interest and desire to be helpful to them," said Mr. Wendkos.

Walter W. Pitzonka, chairman of camping and activities of the Scouting Council, gave the awards of Life Scout to John Parker and Louis Truman, and Star Scout to C. They have to live up to their Scout Law for three to six months. Their character must be above question, and they are expected to be helpful and co-operative at all times. Being a good Scout means being a good citizen. Both require the right kind of living."

Equestrienne

With a thrilling two-mile steeplechase race as the closing affair, the annual Spring horse show of the Bristol Riding Club held on the Laing Estate, Newport Road, came to a climax last evening. Close to 1,000 lovers of horse events witnessed the performances yesterday.

Ninety-five mounts, coming from all sections of the East, were entered in the events. Many of these were post-entries and several of these carried first prizes.

Two accidents slightly marred the show. Saturday, Miss Betty Mills, ten-year-old riding wonder from Newtown, was thrown from her mount, Happy Lad, and was considerably shaken up. However, she participated in yesterday's events. Yesterday, while participating in the Ladies' Hunter class, Mrs. C. Allan Gwynne, New Hope, fell from her mount, and while trying to regain her posture, threw the horse off balance, and it rolled over her. She was unconscious when attendants arrived, but revived at the scene and later was removed to a physician's office.

The injury sustained by little Betty Mills did not prevent her from winning the prize trophy of the show, the Howard I. James, Esq., trophy which was given to the Ladies' Hunter class which was run on the outside course, and the winner based on 75% performance and 25% suitable mount as a lady's hunter.

The Touch-and-Out stake yesterday proved interesting, with Tim, Dr. Edward J. Laing's brown gelding, being

NOT TOO FANTASTIC

"Would you mind walking down the road with me? I have just had my walking license suspended." With this cryptic sentence begins a dispatch from London which reveals that what has been regarded as a crack-brained idea actually is being worked out in an initial experiment—licenses for pedestrians.

One may scoff at such an invasion of rights as the verboten sign on sidewalks and streets for all but licensed walkers, but one cannot shut his eyes to the increasing danger of traffic nor can one predict what the future may hold in ways and means for cutting down the death toll. In any case, the first walker's license experiment is being watched with great earnestness by the English, especially those who live in and about London.

The plan began in the Barham School on the outskirts of the metropolis and may be extended throughout Middlesex. The youngsters have been given both badges and road safety licenses. To retain these badges and licenses, they must be vigilant in observing safety rules, violations are recorded and a succession of violations means that the licenses and badges will be taken up and the youth may walk in public only in company with an appointed warden or sponsor. He may saunter in freedom only after redemption by exemplary safety conduct.

A walker's license may be called an outrageous piece of effrontery by officialdom, but it doesn't sound so impossible when one remembers that there was a time not so many years ago when motorists were not required to have licenses, that there are still many states in which no driver's test is required and four states in which one may drive without a license.

STIMULATED COURAGE

The army of the past may have traveled on its stomach but one army of the present travels on its solar plexus. The soldiers of Nippon, outnumbered, exhausting themselves and the resources of their little country as they hurl themselves against the vastness of China, have formed the habit of swallowing energy tablets when weakened by prolonged fighting, lack of sleep or enervating heat. They also inhale oxygen provided in small tubes and released into rubber-silk bags.

This ultra-modern equipment for warfare was discovered by the first foreign correspondent permitted to inspect the organization and methods of a Japanese army in the field. The reporter chewed one of these tablets and inhaled some oxygen, found himself no stronger but a laudably, his head filled with the notion that he was unconquerable and with visions of war fought by super-men, drug-inspired.

What a wonderful thing war is!

Ho hum. "The cattle shown in the film, 'In Old Chicago,' are of a breed that was unknown at the time of the fire."

The man with a dog who went to the Lafayette (Ind.) pound to have his dog given a "shot" is afraid to go home to his wife and children. The poundkeeper misunderstood and gave the snarling animal instead of vaccine.

Fable: Once a person said he would design a clever Christmas card next year, and he thought of it in time and did it.

ECHOES OF THE PAST

Review of the news as it appeared in the Bucks County Gazette issue dated at Bristol Nov. 9, 1876. The Gazette, a weekly newspaper published in Bristol, was discontinued following its merger with the Courier.

One more attempt to have water for fire protection provided at a reasonable rate, has been made by the Burgess and Council. We hope they and the water company can agree upon a price which will be equitable and fair to all concerned.

NEWPORTVILLE—The monthly meeting of the Social Union Club, of this place, was held on Monday evening, and it being the annual meeting the following officers were elected: President, L. N. King; vice-president, E. F. Vandegrift; treasurer, J. C.

Gifts, People, Service Dwelt Upon In Sermon

polity or dogmatic declaration—yet all of these are in my thought. What I did try to say was 'Be loyal to the Royal in thyself.'

"There is a line in Old Testament literature which reads 'There is a spirit in man, the breath of the Almighty giveth him insight.' Yet man is fearfully and wonderfully made. The little girl about to be punished by her mother looked up into her eyes and said, 'Mother why am I so bad when I want to be so good.' My fears are not that you, the members of the class of 1938 of Bristol high school, shall not discover this 'Royal in thyself,' but a bit fearful you may forget to 'Be loyal to the Royal in thyself.'

"Scarcely by bold defiance, but to think slightly of these spiritual things may cause our greatest disappointment in life.

"Gifts—people—service—in God's world. A kindly world! Take heed to thyself, may I say thy better self."

The scripture lesson for the service was the fourth, fifth and sixth chapters of Ephesians.

The audience participated in the hymns "Joyce, Rejoice," and "I Want a Principle Within;" and Mr. Quigley pleased with a solo.

Indian Pageant Thrills Large Crowd

Scouts in 57 patrols participated. Last year, the previous "high" was 253 Scouts in 54 patrols.

Fifteen hundred spectators thrilled to "The Delawares," the legend of the Lenni Lenape tribe of the Delaware Valley. Members of the Pennsylvania Motor Police guided the traffic. Present were Privates B. F. Bride, I. F. Carfagno, E. J. Kline and G. S. Unger. The parking was in charge of Field Commissioner Jack Burgess, and his brother, Skipper Charles Burgess. Seascouts from the Morrisville and Bristol Ships were ushers under Field Commissioner A. B. Stiles.

The pageant opened with the prayer of "Metu," and the village quickly was erected of three tepees. Life of the Delaware Indians was portrayed from page to play, and from war to peace. The arrival of William Penn and his party was the signal for each camping patrol to light their "Welcome" fire, and the close of the pageant. Many visitors toured the camping sites from the light of the glowing fires.

Spectacular was the participation of the Sciota Tribe of Red Men and the Degree of Pocahontas from the Doylestown tribes. Their costumes were colorful and beautiful, and they gave an ideal representation of Indians. Most unusual was the monster campfire around which the tribe gathered, and a graceful "Scalp Dance" was given by members of Troops No. 53 and 364 of the Philadelphia Boy Scout Council. Horses for the Indian Chiefs were loaned and ridden by employees of "The Horses" Riding Academy. Four horses were ridden by Braves who are in the Brownsburg Lone Scout Tribe, and were made available by Troop Committeeman Leroy Hart, William Horn and Fred Williamson.

Prior to the pageant, Walter W. Pitzonka, chairman of the activities and camping committee of the Bucks County Scouting Council, introduced Council President Dr. A. J. Strathie. Dr. Strathie spoke of the fellowship experiences of the Camporee. Each year more Scouts are attending, and they are able to demonstrate to each other practical camping "kinks." The importance of the Camporee is the teaching of a method whereby the Scout Patrol Leader can put his patrol out "on their own." An invitation was given by President Strathie for everyone to come to Baccus Camps on Sunday afternoon, June 17th, at 3 p. m.

(d. s. t.) for the dedication of the Memory Trail in commemoration of the services of those who have departed to a higher reward.

Quakertown Troop No. 1, under Scoutmaster Chester A. Fouke, and Scoutmaster Jack Clinton, of Doylestown No. 1, assisted Scout Executive William F. Livermore in laying out the camping areas. Field Commissioners Jack Burgess and Robert Geiger strung the wires for the electrical current. Henry S. Roeller of the Roeller Amplification Service of Pottstown, with technical assistant Robert Kalis, and Field Commissioner George E. Dornier, arranged for the sound transmission.

There were five classifications of participation in the Camporee. In Classes A, B and C, with the Patrol earning 650 out of 1,000 points, they are eligible to wear the Region Three Camporee emblem. Class D permits Scouts of any patrol in the troop to attend, but if they secure Standard they are not permitted to wear the emblem as they are not all members of the same patrol. Class E is for any number of Scouts attending the Camporee in any way they want to enjoy it.

The supervisory staff aiding the Scout Executive included judging directors, classification directors, and statisticians. For Class A, Andrew Y. Michie, Jr., Walter W. Pitzonka and Robert H. Kehr; class B, Herbert A. Pettit, Sr., Seymour VanOrden and David Neill; class C, Raymond O. Gilbert, Frank B. Fabian, and Robert Geiger; class D, Lewis H. Fetherolf, Paul R. Sine and Clyde Nash; class E, Coleman Morgan. Program director and supervisor of patrol fires was Clarence F. Hawk.

Loyally and helpfully taking time from their work and pleasures from their families were a number of men who judged the patrols on the 37 items. Each of the 271 was checked on each item, the scoring giving each Scout the knowledge of what it means to be a good camper.

Men assisting were: John Adams, George Bloch, Eugene Boehret, Herbert Brambley, John Burtonhead, Joseph Burtonwood, George Carlin, Gilbert W. Carlin, William M. Carlin, Lyman Clark, Jack Clinton, George Crouthamel, Joseph Dager, Alfred Doty, Chester A. Fouke, Clinton Greenice, Daniel Hopkins, William Livermore, Herbert Loper, Edmund H. Loper, John F. Lumsden, Robert MacDonald, Charles K. Markley, Joseph Maul, Clyde Nash, Harry E. Oliver, Arthur W. Osborne, Robert Peters, Herbert A. Pettit, Jr., Walter V. Rutherford, F. H. Schmidt, M. C. Shoemaker, S. Walter Smith, A. B. Stiles, Allen F. Stoneback, Jr., Lynn Strouse, Ronald Swain, Burtis C. Tomlinson, William Wainman, Harvey Walton, Albert M. White, Arling Woolaver, Theodore Yocum, Joseph A. Zalot and Roger Ziegler. Cashier for camporee emblems was Field Commissioner A. B. Stiles.

During the night the rains descended, and all through Saturday there were frequent showers. The camp awoke early, and the campers were able to prove their ability. Only one patrol asked for paper to build their fires. All other patrols built their fires from fine wood shavings, although having to work with damp wood. Cooking with wet wood and being cheerful under adverse circumstances is good training for youth, and the Bucks County campers "measured up" and had smiles on their faces. It was a portrayal of a Scout is Cheerful, one of the Scout Laws of living.

Every Saturday morning during the Camporee, there is offered a choice of a number of Scoutcraft subjects with the patrols selecting those they want. Two 45-minute are used for this purpose. All of the subjects increase the general knowledge of the Scouts.

On the program Saturday morning were: Camporee Improvising, Scoutmaster George Bloch, Andalusia; camporee patrol leadership, Assistant Cubmaster John Adams, Riegelsville; historical Bowman's Hill, Samuel Warford, New Hope; improvising equipment, Scoutmaster Herbert A. Pettit, Jr., Bristol; Indian costume making, Abe Lastnik, Philadelphia; Indian dancing, Fred Helms, Philadelphia; knife and hatchet, Scoutmaster Clyde Nash, Edgely; minerals, Arthur W. Osborne, Riegelsville; outdoor cooking, Skipper Lewis H. Fetherolf, Milford; making pack tents, Cubmaster John F. Lumsden, Morrisville; making pack frames, District Commissioner Herbert A. Pettit, Sr., Bristol; rustic woodcraft, Cubmaster S. Walter Smith, Sellersville; overnight fun, District Commissioner Raymond O. Gilbert, Churchville; safety, Field Commissioner Robert Geiger, Andalusia; sanitation, Field Commissioner William L. Schofield, Morrisville; trees, Assistant Scoutmaster Robert Peters, St. Francis, Edgington; useful fires, Neighborhood Commissioner David Neill, Bristol; wild flowers, Wilbur Parsons, New Hope; and wilderness first-aid, Neighborhood Commissioner Robert H. Kehr, Dublin.

For the first time in the history of the Camporees in Bucks County under all the handicaps of weather, every patrol attained the Standard rating. From Lower Bucks District there were: Class A—Andalusia, Bear Patrol (Albert Anderson, Elmer Geiges, George Keaton, Robert Sheer); Lion Patrol (Albert Vickers, Edward Bloch, T. Engle, J. Wiley); Croydon No. 1, Pinetree Patrol (Howard Thompson, Pat Dunbury, Raymond Hopkins, Raymond Snyder); Flaming Arrow Patrol (John Welsh, Eugene Bartz, John Bears, Martin Brown).

Class B: Bristol No. 1, Eagle Patrol (William Wate, T. DiLorenzo, Lawrence Fempetter, James Fry, Kellogg); Beaver Patrol (Jack DeLong, William Mack, Vincent Conca, Walter Wilson); Swallow Patrol (Keith M. Rosser, Jr., Louis Barton, Gilbert Herman, Homes Nobles).

Class C: Bristol No. 1, Pioneer Patrol (Albert DeVoe, Edwin DeVoe, Earl Hibbs, Thomas Mack, Edward Riebel, Jack Younger); Blazing Arrow Patrol (James Rollman, Al Orazi, Linton Martin, Donald Wanamaker); Bristol No. 2, Eagle Patrol (Earle Griffiths, Borrelli, McDonnell, Rafferty, Sedgewick, Townsend); Edgely, Covered Wagon (Edwin Gould, John Burger, Lawrence Stewart, Stanley Worthington); Flying Eagle Patrol (Robert Swangler, Robert Abrams, Leroy Evans, Philip Mannberg); Newportville, Eagle Patrol (Harry George, John Brambley, Gordon Fenel, Robert German, Elwood Howards, Earl McCoy); Pine Tree Patrol (John Becker, Frank Becker, Herman Becker, Jr., Robert Loper).

Class D: Bristol No. 7, Blazing Arrow Patrol (Edward Kohler, William MacLean, Charles Day and Richard Day).

The sun broke through in the closing moments of the Camporee on Saturday afternoon as the entire camp gathered for the annual Tree Planting ceremony. Walter V. Rutherford led in the group singing. Speaker for the occasion was C. A. G. Pease, the Bucks County Council Representative to the National Council of the Boy Scouts of America. Scout Executive "Uncle Bill" Livermore introduced him. Mr. Pease took as his theme the Scout Oath and the life of trees as a way of conservation for everything. In his concluding remarks he said: "The tree takes care of itself by obeying the elements. Study the elements for happy, healthful living, and follow them. Live a life of self-reliance as taught you in the things you have learned during this Camporee."

night by a wildly enthusiastic audience at the Grand Theatre, as Darryl F. Zanuck's awesome "In Old Chicago" came to a breath-taking conclusion.

Up to now, Hollywood seemed to have made the most of all of the classic struggles between man and the elements, but not since the "Birth of a Nation" has such completely overwhelming grandeur graced a motion picture screen.

That the grandeur in this 20th Century-Fox production is derived from the relentless fury of an unrestrained holocaust which wiped out a middle-Western metropolis of a rougher and tougher era in our history, is only part of the film.

The true beauty lies in the carefully manipulated love story, capably written, directed and acted in the foreground of what, for want of words, this reviewer will have to call sheer stupendousness.

Literary, production and technical wizardry stick out all over this master work—and in that, the guiding hand of Darryl F. Zanuck is evident.

The story leading up to the burning of the city on the night of October 9, 1871, is lusty, powerful and authentic to an infinitesimal point of careful research and scenic detail.

BRISTOL

Every now and then a movie comes along that marks some technical advance so tremendous that even audiences applaud it, but Hollywood is still talking about Paramount's new Technicolor production of "Her Jungle Love," the picture that critical technicians say smashed five photographic "firsts" all at one time.

The new Dorothy Lamour-Ray Milland film, which opened at the Bristol Theatre on Sunday presented several difficulties that at first seemed impossible to overcome. But when the "rushes" came through, the cameramen themselves were amazed at the work they had done.

They had succeeded in filming for the first time in Technicolor actual jungle shots, bringing the tropics to life in a riot of blazing colors. They managed to film in color such high speed action as an earthquake and an airplane crash. "Her Jungle Love" brings to the screen a color montage never before believed obtainable and exteriors were filmed in full natural hues without the benefit of blazing lights. It is also the first time that songs were recorded directly on the sound track while the action was being shot.

Although each of these "firsts" are of purely technical nature, experts said that movie audiences seeing "Her Jungle Love" cannot help realizing that they are seeing a momentous new departure.

Supporting Miss Lamour and Milland in this jungle romance are Lynne Overman, J. Carrol Naish and Dorothy Howe.

EIGHT BOUTS BOOKED FOR ST. ANN'S ARENA TONIGHT

By T. M. Juno

If sport fans of this vicinity crave action they will not miss the thrills and excitement that are in store for them tonight at the amateur boxing show arranged by matchmaker Johnny Straffe at the St. Ann's outdoor arena, Wood and Franklin streets.

Eight bouts, all evenly matched boys! Boys who guarantee that they will spend every second of their three-round bouts swinging and urging to put over a knockout blow. Matchmaker Straffe has gone far and wide to arrange this card which in his opinion is one of the best to ever be presented in this section.

At least one fighter in every bout is known to the local followers of the art of amateur fisticuffs and in some of the bouts, the fight patrons will have to remain neutral because both boys matched have prowess which is ranked high in the amateur circles.

There is no special bout as everyone listed is a windup three-rounder. The fight begins with Francis Robinson, a colored youth from Langhorne, fighting under the St. Ann's colors, making his debut against Al DiCapri, a southpaw from the Pen-Mar Boxing Club. Robinson has been in training since the first call for fighters and is anxious to start off with a mark on the right side of the ledger.

Vince Delia, who has gained quite a reputation in the eastern district of the A. A. U. because of the knockout punch he possesses in his left mitt, is meeting a stiff foe in the colored Carl Moss, Wharton. Moss is an old-timer in the amateur game and his experience gives him a slight edge over the Purple and Gold fighter, although the fight fans know that if Delia shoots in that left hook once or twice, the fight will be over.

The third bout of the evening will see another local boy introduced to the crowd. He is Joe Kondra, a Polish youngster from Hayes street. Sporting the colors of the St. Ann's organization, Kondra has Frankie Salvatore, Pen-Mar, as his foe. Kondra has been whipping all of his sparring partners during training and is considered one of the best prospects that is being developed here.

George Shull, Burlington, was supposed to have fought Hokey Leighton, Bristol, but the localite was a little too heavy, and so a change was made, matchmaker Straffe pitting the Jersey boy against Louis Spino, unattached. Shull will consider it quite a feather in his cap if he conquers Spino for the Italian youngster put away Leighton in the second round last season.

However, that does not eliminate Leighton from being on the card for he was given Charles Williams, Wharton, to fight. Williams has worked his way to the top of the 135-pounders and feels confident that he can halt the winning streak of the Rescue Squad fighter. Leighton, who has finally been persuaded to fight, is in better condition now than he has ever been and should take over the Wharton representative.

Anything can happen in a heavy-weight bout and so the fans will be given this as an attraction when Mario Liberti, Pen-Mar, tackles Louie DeBroski, Ontario C. C., in one of the later bouts. DeBroski has fought here on several occasions and is a very hard hitter, that is, if he stays on his feet that long.

"Rus" Pearson, Langhorne, who in his debut last week, scored a technical knockout in the second round after flooring his foe six times, will try for better ground when he fights Jess Cotton, a youngster who fights for Ontario and has never been floored. This will be a test of Pearson's real hitting power and whether he can take a hard blow.

Finally, but not least, Straffe has lined up the Roeboling boy who made such a big hit last week. He is Harry Varara, who fights for St. Ann's. Varara's foe is the more experienced Phil Hayworth, Ontario, and this should prove more interesting than the Mattucci-Varara bout of last Tuesday.

There are still a few choice spots which can be had before the first bout goes on. Interested parties are requested to call 9534 for these as the first bout goes on at 8:30 o'clock sharp.

the only horse to complete all the jumps without a knockdown. White Boots, owned by Dr. Laing's wife, and Dr. R. Hunsberger's Bucks Highboy, were deadlocked for second, and in the jump-off, Dr. Hunsberger's gelding was the winner when White Boots, ridden by Carl Schilling, balked at the first jump.

The Steeplechase proved to be a two-horse affair between the mount Imp Garrymona, owned by Miss Ann Meredith Dickinson, "Philtist," Chestnut Hill, and the horse owned and ridden by Charles Peters, Red Gold. The lead in this event changed several times, but at the mile and three-quarter mark, Imp Garrymona began to pull away and at the first was a length and one-half in the lead of Red Gold.

Called off Saturday afternoon, the Scurry event was held yesterday, and was decided by exactly one-half second. At the finish of the first round, Dr. Hunsberger's Bucks Highboy, and Captain Fish, owned by Mrs. Helen R. Benson, Princeton, were tied, with 38 seconds. In the jump-off, Bucks Highboy completed all the jumps in 35½ seconds, this despite the fact that it spilled the first bar. Captain Fish made all the jumps successfully but required 26 seconds to do the trick.

The first leg on the Delaware Valley Challenge Trophy was won by Hon. Bun, owned by Peggy Budd, Pemberton, and ridden by Carl Schilling, Bristol. This event was run on a course unknown to all. This trophy must be won three times by an individual exhibitor. The Hon. Joseph R. Grundy trophy was awarded to Miss Helen C. Culin, whose Sandy Walker won the Five-Gaited Saddle Horse Stake. The other challenge trophy, the DeLong Bowl, was also captured by Miss Helen Culin, whose Sun Eclipse showed the way to the other mounts.

In Saturday's events, the Bareback Jumping class finished in a triple deadlock with Bucks Highboy, Tip-Top Chief and White Boots doing the hurdles without a fault. However, in the jump-off, Bucks Highboy won, although it had three faults. Tip-Top Chief had four faults, and five faults were charged against White Boots.

In the opening class, Mrs. Beatrice Laing's White Boots, six-year-old brown mare, won the event without a fault. Another Bristol entry, White Star, owned by Andrea Lentini, finished fourth in this event.

Bristol's three leading horses, Tim, White Boots and White Star, finished in place positions in every event they were entered.

In addition to the regularly scheduled events, there was an exhibition by Bart Northrup and his educated horse. This mount did everything from brushing off his master with a whisk-broom to cutting a paper from the mouth of Northrup with a whip. This event was through the courtesy of Marty Green, a member of the Bristol Riding Club.

Another exhibition featured the Beatty Brothers, Billy and Franklin, and Alvie Clements, all juvenile rodeo performers.

Judges for the events were as follows: Saddle Horses and Horsemanship, Dr. Henry Bonyng, Ridgewood, N. J.; Hunters and Jumpers, Mrs. Frederick Van Lennep, Bryn Mawr, and Joseph Baldwin, West Chester. The Ringmaster was Roland Baker, and the veterinarian, Dr. William J. Lee, Philadelphia.

Trophies were donated by the following: Mr. Newton Hunsberger, Jr., Glenside; Mrs. Helen R. Benson, Princeton; Miss Helen C. Culin, Elkins Park; Warren DeLong, Carversville; Mr. Davis Dallas Odell, Penns Park; Henry Palmer, Langhorne; Senator Clarence J. Buckman, Langhorne; and Hon. Joseph R. Grundy, Howard J. The Great Game of Politics upon the funds intended to relieve misery—that without the influence of these funds, they will be defeated. If it does not mean that, it does not mean anything.

IF THE PEOPLE as a whole could be gotten to grasp the full implication of Senator Chavez's statement, of the congratulations of Senator Guffey and of the amazing speech of Senator Barkley himself, it is inconceivable that the reaction would not be very great.

If they lack the capacity to be indignant and resentful over this situation, they are in a sad state. Indeed, and nothing can be done. The difficulty, of course, is to get honest facts, not to the people who have already read through the sham righteousness of the Administration, but to those who still remain under the New Deal delusions and accept at face value its promises and professions, despite the tragic failure of its experiments and the awful examples of waste, confusion and governmental demoralization which confront them.

WITH SUCH PEOPLE it isn't easy to deal. They are so saturated with the New Deal propaganda, so steeped in the belief that all criticism comes from the "fakes," or "Wall Street," or "the economic royalists"; so convinced that the President is the pure-minded champion of the downtrodden and oppressed, that they reject the evidence of their own senses and desperately cling to their beliefs long after their hollowness has been revealed. The truth is that in the coming primaries the Administration is exerting itself to the limit to drive out of public life the nine Democratic Senators who voted against Mr. Roosevelt's court-packing bill and are now up for re-nomination. In this effort the relief machine is the main reliance. Against one of these Senators—Gillette, on Iowa—the head of the WPA, Mr. Hopkins, has openly arrayed himself, which is equivalent to arraying the organization which he controls. Until Mr. Hopkins' declaration, Senator Gillette's re-nomination was not really threatened and the young rubber-stamp Congressman for whom Mr. Hopkins declared was not considered a formidable aspirant.

IN ALL the other States these anti-court-packing Senators will be opposed by "hundred per cent. Roosevelt men" who go into the field with the Roosevelt blessing, announcing their candidacies right after a White House talk with the President, who, at his press conferences, continues smugly to insist that he is not taking part in the primaries. If a less exalted official made a statement like that it would be easier to characterize it. Mr. Hopkins becomes an immediate partisan for whom the President blesses. That has been his record from the start but he has now ceased to camouflage it. Action of the Senate has practically authorized him and others who administer relief funds actively to engage in politics. They were doing it anyhow, but now they do not have to hide it. The most shocking thing about it is that they are beginning to regard it as all right. The defense of the Messrs. Barkley, Chavez and others was really shameful.

PORT RICHMOND NINE TO PLAY HERE SUNDAY

Wednesday evening at 6.15 o'clock, Port Richmond will play Landreth's at the Landreth ball park. Port Richmond, a member of the Philadelphia League, is playing very good ball just now and the game should be most interesting. Last year Port Richmond beat the Farmers when they were here 6 to 4.

Next Sunday at Landreth Park at 3 p. m. the Farmers will take on Wissinoming. This club is now leading the Philadelphia City League and when they played here last year defeated the locals in a close game.

Landreth's did not play at Wildwood yesterday because of a terrific rainstorm there Saturday and Sunday night, which made the field impossible to play on. They will play there Sunday, July 3rd.

Various Fire Chiefs of the county discussed fires which took place at George School, Silverdale, Trevose, Langhorne and other places.

Fire Marshal Strunk stated that in four barn fires recently in Bucks county, the fire was first seen in a straw mow, and that all of the barns were burned within a 10 day period.

Following a plea made by President Groome, the association decided to become a member of the Delaware Valley Protective Association, the aim of which is the preservation of the canal in the famed Delaware River valley.

Speaking of the annual fire loss in Bucks county during the past year, President Groome deplored the fact that there has been an increase of $259,980 compared with that of last year. The loss this year is $305,980.

Last year the fire loss was $146,000, and 31 barns were destroyed.

The increase in the loss by fire has been due to the following fires: 11 barns by lightning; oil fire at New Hope by lightning; barn at the County Home; Oak Grove Hosiery Mill; George Shool barn.

During the past year 142 grass fires were reported. They caused the burning of four barns whose total value approximated $18,000.

New apparatus was purchased during the year by Quakertown, West End, Yardley, Newtown, Sellersville, Parkland, Wycombe, Southampton, Richlandtown, Doylestown and Langhorne.

Tony Granaro, Philadelphia, charged with arson, in connection with the burning of a barn at Jamison, was sentenced to serve not less than six months nor more than three years in the County Prison in June, 1937.

Companies answering alarms included the following:

Quakertown, 17; Richlandtown, 7; Trumbauersville, 7; Dublin, 7; Perkasie, 10; Sellersville, 9; Silverdale, 8; Point Pleasant, 23; Doylestown, 16; Plumstead, 7; Chalfont, 9; Hartsville, 5; Newtown, 13; Wycombe, 7; Middletown, 9; Cornwells Heights, 26; New Hope, 9; Warminster Township, 5; Cornwells, Union, 10; Warrington Township, 5; Trevose, 20; Trevose Heights, 7; Langhorne, 18; South Langhorne, 11; Hulmeville, 26; Southampton, 15; Ivyland, 5; Richboro, 7; Morrisville, 36; Yardley, 31; Tullytown, 5; Bristol Consolidated Department, 10; Good Will Hose Company, ment, 90; AHH (Ladder Co.), No. 2, Bristol; Headley Manor, 4; Newport, 9; Crofton, 45; Newportville, 10; Fallsington Township, 20.

Dr. Meyer M. Hostetter, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, pronounced the invocation.

Assemblyman Thomas B. Stockham, enroute to his home at Morrisville from a commencement in Bridgeton township, spoke briefly and congratulated Doylestown on its Centennial celebration.
